Two days before Eva's fourth birthday, both of her parents and four of her siblings were murdered in their Cando, North Dakota home by a hired hand. The tragedy startled the entire nation. Eva and her brother Henry initially lived with Annie and Tobias Bomberger, her father's sister. Eva was adopted by her mother's uncle, Samuel Risser, and his wife Mary. They eventually moved from a farm in South Londonderry Township, Lebanon County to a house in Florin (now Mount Joy, Lancaster County).

The Risser's were Mennonite, and Eva attended church services with them. But she also attended Sunday School at the United Brethren Church in Florin, now Glossbrenner United Methodist.
